Why Sponsor?

The Bill Wright Golf Complex is one of Seattle's busiest golf centers. In 2023, a combined 74,914 rounds of golf were played at the Bill Wright Golf Complex. In 2024, the Men's Club had 260 members. The membership goal for 2025 is 400 members.

It's also one of the most significant courses in Seattle and Washington state's golf history. The Jefferson Park Golf Course opened in May 1915. It was the first municipally owned golf course in Seattle. Since opening, the golf course has served Seattle residents and visitors of all ethnicities and income levels: from the heavyweight-boxing champion Joe Louis in 1936, to Fred Couples starting out as a junior, to a 16-year-old Tiger Woods who played in an exhibition here in 1992, from the first members of the Seattle Chinese Golf Club in the 1950s to hundreds of students of the First Tee today.

The Bill Wright Golf Complex is a public golf course in the Beacon Hill neighborhood. The course is maintained by the City of Seattle and managed by Premier Golf Centers LLC. The course measures over 5,900 yards and features vistas of the city's skyline and Mt. Rainier. Jefferson Park also includes a nine-hole Executive golf course, a restaurant with banquet facilities, a driving range and instructions are available for individual or group lessons for any level of golfer.
